|---|--------|
| 1. On games played early in the week, transactions are 30 minutes before the 1st game for all games played on the same day. Only count the 1st game of the day if it starts after 11:00 a.m. ct. | YES NO |
| 2. Do a player auction (existing NFL players only, no kickers) with a hard stop at 8 auctions. This theoretically allows each team a player. Do it before our regular draft. The auction may put better NFL players in play for the draft. Each team would have the opportunity to "call" one player to the auction block (either a league free agent or one from his FFL team). The auction would carry on just as the one last September did. If there are no bids on a player, he would return to the team/status that he previously was. If 2023 stat projections are not available, use 2022 regular season stats. Estimated clock time: 30 to 45 minutes. | YES NO |
| 3. Incomplete NFL Games: | YES NO |
| 1. Keep game stats if there are less than 5 minutes left in the 4th quarter. | |
| 2. If no on #1, take stats from the rescheduled game. | |
| 3. If no on #2, take the stats from the player's next playoff game if the game isn't rescheduled or go to backup players. | |
| 4. If a player is no longer on the BBFL team before a rescheduled game or the player's next playoff game, use his stats from the next game as a free agent. If a player is injured and was a replacement player dropped by the rules and not dropped by the owner, go to backup players. | |
| 5. If no on #4 and the player was dropped by the owner, enter 0 points on the player. | |
| 4. The maximum number of starts for each player is 11 games per season. | YES NO |
